Delivery situation for crystals CM7V-T1A

Dear customers,

We would like to update the situation for our crystal devices CM7V-T1A.

Actually we do not get enough raw material for our crystal production CM7V-T1A. This situation is ongoing since last year and is getting even worse.

Therefore we can't keep the delivery lead time we already confirmed to our customers. This is a big impact for the total quantity Micro Crystal has confirmed to the market.

We have to apologize deeply for this inconvenience. As a result, we have to cut off roughly around 20% - 30% of the already confirmed orders. In addition the crystal CM7V-T1A is completely under allocation.

At this moment we do not know until when this situation is ongoing. We will inform you as soon as the situation is changing again.

Sincerely yours,

Andy Feuerstein
