

To Our Valued Customer:

Per ATP internal business continuity protocol, our supply chain team has performed an assessment on current and potential supply disruption in response to the recent crisis in Ukraine. This assessment on material supply includes product BOM materials, shipping/logistics routing, and packing/shipping materials. In addition, we have surveyed our key suppliers for potential impact.

There are currently no areas of impact and ATP foresees no supply disruption. Although there are secondary concerns up the supply chain at semiconductor foundries due to potential disruption of noble gases, particularly neon, our semiconductor suppliers all stated that they had diversified their supply of such materials and have ample safety inventories in place.

ATP complies with all applicable laws and regulations and is fully committed to complying with the new export control rules and sanctions recently announced. Should you be a potential customer impacted by such rules and sanctions, ATP or a representative of ATP will contact you separately with further details.

The ATP operations and supply chain teams are continuing to monitor the situation and will release further statements as needed.

Best Regards,
The ATP Management Team
